

Mitigate the BIGGEST Threat to your Network: Your End Users

Increase your security posture quickly and with minimal investment by ensuring that your end-users are equipped with the knowledge necessary to be good stewards of your organizations' data. From the CEO to the new sales representative, any individual that has access to your information system needs a thorough understanding of their effect on cybersecurity.

Why Choose StormWind?

With massively engaging content, Hollywood style HD content delivery, and passionate instructors that live and breathe technology, StormWind EPIC Live was designed and inspired by eliminating everything we despised about traditional, boring online and classroom training.

Hollywood meets IT training: online classrooms never looked this good.

StormWind's CyberSAFE End User Security Awareness and Certification program is designed for non-technical end-users of computers, mobile devices, networks, and the Internet – really, any connected user. Students will learn to identify many of the common risks involved in using conventional end-user technology, and learn ways to use it safely, protecting themselves and their organization from those risks.

Included Materials:

- Instant Replay – On Demand HD video recordings, available 24x7
- Mentoring with our expert instructor for the entire team
- Student Guide
- Certified CyberSAFE – Post-assessment and printable credential

Senior Instructor: Mike Vasquez, MCSE

Mike began his IT career in a tech support role at MCI's call center, quickly advancing his way into top-tier support for Iomega. After studying and earning his A+ and NT 4.0 Server certifications, he eventually oversaw the statewide network operations for a title company and got his start teaching technical courses.

Mike spent his free time over the next decade honing his vulnerability scanning, penetration testing, and auditing skills, consulting for companies across the country, and hacking his way (with permission) into hospitals, utility companies, and more. Mike has since joined the instructional team at StormWind and is excited to bring his real world expertise and passion for security to his students there.

For more information about CyberSAFE End User Security Awareness and Certification, please contact your StormWind sales representative. Enterprise pricing is available.